

The Royal College of Emergency Medicine

Ambulatory Surgery - CPD Study Day
Thursday 7 March 2019
RCEM Octavia House, London

This RCEM CPD Study Day gives delegates the skills to investigate and manage a wide range of surgical emergencies, learn how to set up a surgical ambulatory service and discuss abdominal pain, gynaecology, ambulatory vascular surgery and renal emergencies.

Thursday 7 March 2019
0930 - 1000	Registration and refreshments
1000 - 1020	RCEM ambulatory care toolkit Tara Sood, Emergency Medicine Consultant, Royal Free Hospital and Chair, RCEM Ambulatory Care Special Interest Group
1020 - 1100	How to set up a surgical ambulatory service Sarah Richards, Consultant Surgeon, Royal United Hospitals, Bath
1100 - 1140	Abdominal pain not requiring immediate surgical intervention Jonathan Knowles, Clinical Director of Surgery, Royal Free Hospital, London
1140 - 1200	Refreshments and networking
1200 - 1240	Ambulatory gynaecology Emma Kirk, Consultant in Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Royal Free Hospital, London
1240 - 1330	Lunch and networking
1330 - 1410	Update on the TiLLI study and BTS guidelines for initial outpatient management of pulmonary embolism Daniel Horner, Emergency Medicine and Intensive Care Medicine Consultant, Salford Royal NHS Foundation Trust and RCEM Professor
1410 - 1450	Ambulatory vascular surgery Tara Mastracci, Clinical Lead for Aortic Surgery, Royal Free Hospital London and Janice Tsui, Senior Lecturer and Consultant Vascular Surgeon, Royal Free Hospital, London
1450 - 1515	Refreshments and networking
1515 - 1600	Emergency department led ambulatory care Nathalie Richard, Emergency Medicine Consultant, Whittington Hospital, London
1600 - 1645	Ambulatory renal medicine Sally Hamour, Consultant Renal Physician, Royal Free Hospital, London
1645	Close of day

(Programme subject to change)